THE ANCIENT THEATRE

2A, Tsar Ivaylo Str. | tel.: +359 32 621 040 | oldplovdiv.bg

The Ancient Theatre of Philippopolis is one of the best preserved ancient theatres in the world. A recently discovered inscription on a statue pedestal indicates that the theatre was built in the 90s of the 1st century A.D., when Philippopolis was under the rulership of Titus Flavius Cotise – an heir of a Thracian Royal Dynasty, the high priest of the Thracian province, representative of the Metropolitan Court of Justice and a person in charge of the construction sites. The theatre was one of the major public buildings of the ancient Philippopolis. The open area includes 28 concentric rows of marble seats. In addition to theatrical performances and sittings of the National Assembly and the Union of Thracian Cities, the theatre also hosted gladiatorial fights. It was active until the end of the fourth century and had capacity of 6000 spectators.

Today the Ancient Theatre is one of the symbols of Plovdiv and has been fully adapted to the city's modern cultural life. It is a functioning stage for opera, drama and music.

THE ROMAN STADIUM

Roman Stadium Sq. | tel.: +359 876 662 881 | oldplovdiv.bg

The Stadium is situated in a hollow between Sahat Tepe and Teksim Tepe, in the middle of the Main Pedestrian Street. It was built in the 2nd century following the model of the Delphi Stadium. With its impressive size, the stadium could seat up to 30 000 spectators who watched the gladiator fights and the sport competitions. According to the inscriptions and coins found, the Pythian Games were held at the Stadium. During the visit of Emperor Caracalla in 214 AD, the games were called Alexandria-Pythia, and after the visit of the Emperor Elagabalus in 218 AD, they were named the Kendrisian games. Today only the northern part of the Stadium with 13 rows, the northern entrance and a part of the track could be seen. There is also a remaining part of the city walls, built in 172 AD under the rule of Emperor Marcus Aurelius, and the foundations of the Roman Aqueduct of Philippopolis.

THE BISHOP'S BASILICA OF PHILIPPOPOLIS

2, Knyaginya Maria Luiza Blvd. | +359 876 662 900 | oldplovdiv.bg

The Bishop's Basilica of Philippopolis is a three-nave single-apse building, impressively large in size, with rich interior architectural design. Its total length is 82.80 m and its width is 36 m, which makes it the largest basilica building from the 4th-6th century in Bulgaria and one of the largest in the Balkans. The floors of the basilica are covered with two layers of multicoloured mosaics, with an area exceeding 2000 sq. m, depicting complex geometric compositions, flowers, plants and birds. Each bird, rosette and meander is the result of great artistry, hours of work and years of experience. It functioned from the middle of the 4th century to the end of the 6th century.

The Bishop's Basilica of Philippopolis is a monument of very high historical, artistic and scientific value. It is included in the UNESCO Tentative List for Cultural and Natural Heritage as part of the serial property "Bishop's Basilica and Late-Antique Mosaics of Philippopolis, Roman Province of Thrace".

THE SMALL EARLY CHRISTIAN BASILICA

31A, Knyaginya Maria Luiza Blvd. | tel.: +359 876 662 882 | oldplovdiv.bg

The archeological complex Small Early Christian Basilica dates from the second half of the 5th - 6th century. It is a three-nave basilica with 20 m length and 13 m width. A small chapel was built to the south, and a baptistery was attached to the north nave. The basilica had very rich architectural decorations – marble colonnade between the naves, marble altar, pulpit and synthronon. The floors are covered with multicoloured mosaics, considered some of the best ever made from the masters of Philippopolis. For early Christians, the mosaics conveyed meaning and symbolism. The deer, for example, represents the soul of the Christian who strives for faith and truth, and the dove symbolizes the Holy Spirit.

LATE-ANTIQUÉ IRENE BUILDING OF PHILIPPOPOLIS

89 Tsar Boris III Obedinitel Blvd. | tel.: +359 876 662 900 | oldplovdiv.bg

The building occupies a greater part of an insula (rectangular space bounded by an orthogonally developed street network), located at one of the main intersections in the urban plain, south of the Ancient Theatre. The rooms in the representative part of the building, developed around an inner courtyard, have polychrome mosaics. The name of the building is derived from the inscription next to the image of a female, located in the central room. The mosaics, dated back to the IV - V centuries, are the work of local masters, influenced by Eastern schools and model.

Balabanov House is a representative of the development of the symmetrical houses in Plovdiv and one of the models with very rich architectural details of the plastic and flat decoration. This house definitely goes beyond the functions of the normal home and becomes more like a public building with its size and functions. It was built in the early 19th century and had three owners. The last one was the merchant Luka Balabanov, whose name is given to the house. The size of the house is impressive – built on the ground of 546 sq. m. Today Balabanov House is one of the most popular chamber stages for cultural events in Plovdiv.

HINDLIYAN HOUSE

4, Artin Gidikov Str. | tel.: +359 32 628 998 | oldplovdiv.bg

Built by unknown master-builders in 1835-1840, the house of Stepan Hindliyan is one of the few originally preserved symmetrical houses of Plovdiv. The owner of the house is also the founder of one of the four wealthiest Armenian families in the city. He was a famous merchant, whose transactions in the early 19th century often took him to India. In result the name Hindliyan was given to him.

The house is second to none in regards to its artistic and decorative ornamentation. Lavish details cover not only the walls but also the ceilings. The first floor features a bath crowning a tradition started with the Roman hypocaust system and developed into the Turkish bath variant “hammam” with its unwinding steam room.

Built in 1863 in the spirit of European classicism, the house of Plovdiv’s merchant and public figure Nicola Nedkovich, impresses viewers with a richly decorated facade and a four-column solemn portico. The rooms on the first floor are located symmetrically on both sides of a wide lounge (hayet). The second floor is stylistically distinguished by its decorations. The exhibition in the house presents the inner order of the wealthy Plovdiv houses of 19th century and includes furniture and belongings of the Nedkovich family. Also exhibited are samples from the two main carpet schools – those of Chiprovtsi and Kotel. Especially impressive are massive carpets of the Kotel school, made to order for this house, as well as the exquisite silk fabrics and intimate lingerie.

KLIANTI HOUSE

3, Todor Samodumov Str. | tel.: +359 32 660 160 | oldplovdiv.bg

Klianti House is one of the oldest preserved houses from the period of the National Bulgarian Revival, part of the Ancient Plovdiv architectural and historic reserve. Dated from the middle of the 18th century, it is an asymmetrical two-storey house. Here you can observe unique architectural elements. The house is richly decorated with mural paintings, wooden carved ceilings and beautiful alafrangas (Alafraanga is a decorative, niche in a wall meaning in a French manner). Many of the decorations are one of a kind and can't be seen in the rest of the houses from the Revival Period.

The research and the restoration of the building began in 1971, went through a few stages and ended in 2017, when the house was turned into a museum and announced as "Building of the Year".
